THE CEDINANCE WAS REFERRED BACK

The Select Council of Allegheny City held a special meeting last night to consider the report of the Finance Committee on the bend question. The city had authorized a loan at 3½ per cent, but there were no bidders, and additional legaslation was needed.

Mr. Snaman, from the Finance Committee, presented an ordinance repealing the ordinance authorizing the issuing 517,000 renewal bonds bearing 3½ por cent interest. It was passed. He then protected an ordinance for issuing $15,000 of park bonds, the proceeds to be issuing $25,000 of park bonds, the proceeds to be Mr. Snaman also presented an ordinance for issuing £25,000 of park bonds, the proceeds to be used only to improve Monument Hill. There was no debate on the subject, and the ordinance was no usuate on the subject, and the ordinance was passed unanimously. A resolution transferring $5,000 from the contingent fund to the street and sewer fund, recommended by the Finance Committee, was also adopted. Under a suspension of the rules Mr. Einstein efferted an ordinance for grading, paving and curbing Braddock street, which was referred to the proper committee.

was passed unanimously. A resolution transferring $5,000 from the contingent fund to the street and sewer fund, recommended by the Finance Committee, was also adopted.

Under a suspension of the rules Mr. Einstein effered an ordinance for grading paving and curbing Braddock street, which was referred to the proper committee.

THE STREET TRACKS.

Mr. Walther called up the ordinance giving the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester Traction Company the right to use the streets now used by the Pittsburg Allegheny and Manchester Railway Company and the Union Passenger Railway Company and the Union Passenger Railway Company. Mr. Hartman opened his speech by saying that he wanted to see the roads improved, but he thought it time that there should be an improvement that would enable all the companies to run on two tracks on Ohio street, iusteau of on four, as at present. He thought a change should be made in the ordinance.

Mr. Snaman said this question had been gone over several times. No complaints were being made about these four tracks; he had talked to an Ohio street property owner within a few days, and had been told that they had no ob-searching for it for a year. The cargo has been in the ordinance.

Mr. Snaman said this question had been gone over several times. No complaints were being made about these four tracks: he had talked to an Ohio street property owner within a few days, and had been told that they had no objections to the tracks. Mr. Henricks thought the ordinance could be put in better shape in relation to the location of the tracks on Rebeccastreet. South avenue and Bidwell street. He wanted one track only on each of these streets. He moved to refer the ordinance back to the committee for this amendment, and to amend so that it will be necessary to change the Union line system within a year, a point that he thought was a trife vague.

Mr. Loow said the company would abandon one track on Bidwell street and one on Rebeccastreet, and would put a track on South avenue as seen as they could get the right of way. Mr.

ome track on Bidwell street and one on Rebecca street, and would put a track on South avenue as soon as they could get the right of way. Mr. Kehnedy said that the new management could be trusted to carry out its promises. It would be difficult to get the points raised in this amendment legally in the ordinance. The Traction Company had no right to lay new tracks, but can only operate lines of street car companies.

THE COMPANY WILLING. The Traction Company wanted to do as Mr.

Henricks asked, and would come into Councils and ask that the right to do these things be given not to the Traction Company, but to the old street car company. Mr. Henricks maintained that the wording of Mr. Henricks maintained that the wording of the ordinance was ambiguous and did not require, absolutely, the changing of the Union line to a rapid transit system.

Mr. Henricks' motion to send the ordinance back to the committee was defeated. Dr. Gilliford raised the point that the clause relating to the company accepting the conditions of the ordinance was so drawn that it relieved the company from all the conditions except that with respect to the rate to be charged.

Mr. Samman, after a brief consultation with company from all the conditions except that with respect to the rate to be charged. Mr. Snaman, after a brief consultation with some other members, moved to refer the ordi-name back to the committee. The motion was adopted unanimously and the Council ad-

Over $60,000,000 Invested in Loan

A HEAVY HOLDER OF BUILDING STOCK

The merits and demerits of building and loan associations continue to be discussed with more or less vigor between their members and the savings banks, and some of the former claim that they are the commercial sait of the earth, so far as the poor are concerned. They say it is not altogether the abundance of money in this section that causes mortgage brokers to hunt instead of would-be investors seeking mortgage brokers, as in olden time, but the fact that the poor are fast learning that they mortgage brokers, as in olden time, but the fact that the poor are fast learning that they may get mortgages without going forms pauperis as in the olden time to a lordly broker, who exacted his terms, is suggestive.

It is also claimed by some advocates of the system of "every man his own banker," that the main cause of chear money at present is the fact that there are so many building and loan associations in the country; that they have taken away a monopoly once held by savings banks and brokers.

This is the view expressed by the largest holder of building and loan stock in this county, probably the largest in Western Pennsylvania, holding 500 shares whose par value is $100,000. The Railroad Companies Looking for a Cargo

A GENTLE ADMONITION. He was too modest to give his name, but re ferred the inquirer to J. C. Robinson, after giving the inquirer the admonition never to giving the inquirer the admonition never to take stock in any building and loan association that bought property in its corporate capacity. He then read the epitaphs on the tombstones of several whose untimely death was mourned by thousands some years ago.

Mr. Robinson was too busy to talk, but he said that as the building and loan associations of this county loaned considerably over a million dollars a year, he supposed they did burt the business of savings banks and brokers. How much, he was not at the time prepared to say.

On the other hand, a banker denied that such associations were of use to the poor. He claimed that all the advantages derived from them would be gotten from savings banks, but at the same time he seemed to regard it as a at the same time he seemed to regard it as a at the same time he seemed to regard it as a grievance that they were not taxed as banks are, which would seem to imply that their opposition might not be so insignificant after all. This banker gave the key to the solution of the whole matter. In the first place banks of discount are of little or no use to the very poor, as, in the first place, they cannot give security for loans, and in the second, their custom is not waitled, as they are not expected to ever and are not expected to be of any use to such banks. He might have added, secondly, that the average day laborer is not likely to be able to accumulate enough before 50 years of age to take advantage of the help given by savings banks. It is here the building and loan association comes to his rescue. If he can secure some work in the suburbs for £100 or $200 he has the leverage to hoist him into a neat little home within a few months. Supposing he can save $1.25 a week, he can take five shares in an association, and on them borrow $1.000. Then, what he previously paid in rent will more than keep up his dues and interest, and at the end of eight years he owns a house and lot of his own, paid for by a rental considerably less than he might be cited, but it is not necessary to do so, as the proposition is self-evident.

Of course, to accomplish this there must be a non-borrowing class, but the trouble is that this class is generally larger than wanted, as at present many people are looking to these organizations as investments. There are over 100 of these institutions in this county, and their capital stock is estimated at over $60,000,000. BECOME DEPOSITORS goods to be sent out next Tuesday. A great many other smaller domations of groceries and clothing have been received, which will also be distributed on Tuesday.

The society has between 1,200 and 1,500 families on their hands, and it is expected that they will be able to give each family something. Some of the people are sick, and in such cases goods will be felivered to their homes. Business men are now enjoying a brisk business, and so are thieves, for we read of another bold daylight robbery in our city. A man in Lawrenceville was foolish enough to have $1,300 in gold coin and a lot of jewelry in his house, and yesterday some sharp thieves relieved him of any further care of them. He seems to have had more faith in his house than he had in banks. If he had been wise he would have secured a safe in the burglar-proof safe of The Safe Deposit Company of Pittsburg, and he would to-day have been in possession of his gold. Why is it that people do not take warning by the experience of others? It has been demonstrated again and again that money and other valuables are not safe in our residences. A safe in the vault of The Safe Deposit Company of Pittsburg can be had at a small expense. The peace of 'mind and sense of security are worth all it costs to get this protection. People should ponder these matters in their minds, and act promptly. Don't fail to ret a safe at The Safe Deposit Company of Pittsburg at once. Run no risk. Other Institutions.
